corn almost out of danger from ad-

has one of the most promising maize giving their time and effort. Your co-operation and contributions will be appreciated.

The $50,000,000 voted by the Congress of the United States food
for European Civilians does not affect this drive in any way. The money secured by the Red Cross in Federal government will not be handled by the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross may, however, aid in the distribution of the food purchased with this money. Now is the time to come to the aid of your American Red Cross.

County Chairman.

HONDO F. F. A. NEWS

Thursday night, June 13, the Hon-
do Chapter of Future Farmers held their regular meeting in the Vocational Agriculture department in the school building. During this meeting a report was given by Melvin Wendland, who is chairman of the Show Committee, on the different divisions of show animals that are to be shown at the stock show which will be sponsored by the F. F. A.
Chapter this coming year. Prizes will be awarded to the first three places in each division.

It was decided at this meeting to have a fishing trip to the Devil's River. This trip will be made the week of July 22. The boys who are to go on the trip will can different vegetables, such as corn, black-eye peas and beans sometime in the future. This food will be used on the trip to lessen the cost of food. The trip will be made in the High School bus. There will be a special meeting held on July 18, to make further plans for the trip. EACH BOY WHO IS TO MAKE THE TRIP MUST HAVE HIS 1940-41 F. F. A. DUES
PAID BY JULY 18.

Roland Nester and Lacy C. Gilliam were elected as delegates to attend the State F. F. A. Convention to be held in Houston.

The new members who were at the meeting enjoyed themselves and will be among the ones to make the fishing trip. After the meeting ice cold watermelon was served to the boys present.

WOMAN'S SOCIETY OF CHRIS- TIAN SERVICE MEETS

On Monday afternoon, June 17,
the Woman's Society of Christian Service met in the home of Mrs. S.
O. Woolls with about 15 ladies in attendance for their program and social meeting of the month.

Mrs. Amos Harilee was the leader of the program on the subject of Christian Brotherhood, and Miss
Nannie Holding—the Texas-Mexico Missionary—was the character for discussion. Miss Holding served many years in the Seminary at Laredo, where she had the opportunity for instilling and practicing this principle of Christian Brotherhood
for on one small campus were garthered together boys and girls of Polish, German, Russian, Italian, Norwegian, Swedish, Jewish, Mexican,
English, Scotch, Irish, French and Persian ancestry.

Mrs. Harilee was assisted in presenting the topics by Mrs. Barnitz Carle, Mrs. W. L. Windrow, Mrs. A.
H. Schweers, Mrs. B. C. Rogers, and Miss Bertha Newton gave the meditation.

At the conclusion of the program,
a short business session was held after which Mrs. Woolls with Mrs. Leslie Holloway as co-hostess served delicious refreshments of chicken sandwiches and punch to the guests present.

HONDO FUTURE FARMERS TO CAN CORN AND BEANS

All boys who are going on the summer trip, July 22-27, are urged to be at the High School Monday, June 24, at 8:00 A. M. to help can enough corn and beans to take on the trip
in order to cut down expenses as well as learning the skill of canning.

The above is one of the several cooperative efforts in buying and working the Hondo Future Farmers will undertake this year.

Boys who have canners and sealers
bring them along with you.

It is very important that each boy who is now a Future Farmer and those who wish to join the organization be present Monday. An organization cannot be successful without the cooperation of its members.

Miss Nell Foley will be in charge of the canning according to C. D.
Sadler, Vocational Agriculture
teacher.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

To all Taxpayers who took advantage of the half payment plan on the 1939 taxes, this is to advise the last half must be paid by June 30, 1940, otherwise penalty and interest will accrue.

To those who did not take advantage of the half payment and still owe the full amount of the 1939 taxes, this is to advise that same may be paid any time in June with only 7 1-2 per cent penalty and interest, whereas, on July 1st, the penalty will increase to 8 per cent with 6 per cent interest, plus $1.00 cost of redemption. 5tc.

Respectfully,
MRS. MINNIE HEATH,
Tax Assessor and Collector,
Medina County.

NEW FOUNTAIN W. M. S.

The New Fountain Woman's Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. Marvin Schweers on Tuesday, June 18, with fifteen members and two visitors present.

The program was opened by the leader, Mrs. Frank Muennink, with the call to worship: "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise be heard."

The Missionary topic, "Nannie
Holding—the Texas-Mexico Missionary", was given by Mrs. Wilkes Wiemers and Mrs. C. F. Schweers.
The meditation was given by Mrs.
Clinton Wiemers.

It was decided to send Mrs. C. F.
Schweers, the Secretary of Children's Work, to Kerrville to take a study
course in July.

After the business session, ice cream and cake were served.

THE GREAT BOOKKEEPER

By Clayton Rand

It has been said with truth that
"the power to tax is the power to destroy", and also with fatal irony, "only taxes and death are certain."

The federal debt already passed a total of 45 billions, interest alone on its obligations will soon
cost the taxpayers of the country a billion dollars a year. In the last national pinch, precipitated by individuals, companies, cities, counties and states spending too much money, we all leaned on the federal government.

When in turn a spendthrift federal government finds its credit
impaired, on whom will it lean?
Little men forget that the Great Bookkeeper puts everything
down, and in His final reckoning He balances every budget.

PLANS ARRANGED FOR DEMO- CRATIC PRIMARIES

At a meeting of the County Executive committee Tuesday, it was agreed to assess the local candidates
only enough to furnish the necessary election supplies and to again
depend upon volunteers in the respective precincts to hold the elections without pay.

Precinct committeemen should busy themselves at once in making the necessary arrangements; that is, arranging the voluntary help and a designated place for holding the election. This place and the date for the election—the first one being on July 27th—should be made generally and definitely known so that all who desire to cast their vote on this occasion may have the opportunity to do so. Candidates and their friends who want to secure a full turn-out of the voters should interest themselves in seeing that these matters are properly attended to in time.

The ticket as arranged for the first primary appears on the seventh page of this paper. Under the law there can be no additions to the ballot and the only change possible is the elimination of the names of any who withdraw or who, if subject to assessment, fail to pay their assessment within the time specified by law. This time expires with the end of Saturday, June 22, and the assessment is three dollars per candidate.

CLOSING DATES FOR MATTRESS APPLICATIONS AT HAND

With the closing date for accepting applications near at hand, 519 Medina County farm families have been certified by the county Triple AAA Board to receive surplus cotton and mattress ticking, according to Miss Nell Foley, County Home Demonstration Agent.

The county office expects to certify around six hundred farm families before the closing date which is June 20th.

"With the close cooperation given by farm people, and the help of home demonstration club women, it has enabled us to complete 110 mattresses in a month's time. Through the very fine organization which has been established, we hope to complete the mattress work in the county by September," Miss Foley states.

Additional centers will be established at Burrell, Dunlay, Natalia, and Black Creek to take care of the farm people in those areas. These centers will get underway just as soon as the next shipment of cotton arrives.

Mrs. C. L. Jones and Miss Lois Lemmon sang prior to the ceremony. Mrs. Esther Martin played before and during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white organdy. Her only ornament was a pale pink cameo. The fingertip veil fell from a coronet of shirred tulle and valley lilies. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Albert T. Farris, who wore yellow organdy. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Monell and Miss Mary Lee Britz.

The flower girls were Geraldine Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Meador, and Carolyn Lansford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Lansford. Fred Britz Jr., cousin of the bridegroom, was best man, and the groomsmen were Norris McClung and William Bitzkie, Jr., cousins of the bridegroom. The ushers were Audrey Santleben and C. L. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Britz left immediately after the ceremony for a brief trip. Mrs. Dallas Blagg of Buena Vista, San Luis Potosi, Mexico, arrived for the Britz-DuBose wedding last Sunday. Mrs. Blagg will be remembered as Miss Lorette DuBose of this city. She will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Travis DuBose, for a few weeks. ### OUR "PRINTER'S DEVIL" WRITES

Rothwell Bohmfalk of Hondo, formerly "printer's devil" at the Anvil Herald office, writes to the office force from Inks Dam where he has been working for the past few months:

June 5, 1940.
Inks Dam, Burnet, Texas.
Anvil Herald Office,
Hondo, Texas.

Dear Friends:
This is a very late date to write. I wanted to be able to tell you about the things I had learned. I have not learned any too much more than I knew. However, I can feed the job press running full speed. Our class is of a fair size, and the instructor leaves almost everything in the junior foreman's hands and he doesn't care much how he takes care of the equipment.

I have made a few attempts at getting set type into a galley without pieing it. Did not have very much luck with it. I will have to try till I learn how to move it without any trouble.

The galleys are made out of tin and most of them are out of line. This makes it hard to keep set matter in place even if you get it in a galley without dropping everything.

Our instructor intends for us to write letters today to make application for a job in some large city or town. I don't care about writing because I feel he should teach us more before we apply for a job.

If I can stay in the printing class another three months I will stay here. I may learn something in that time.

I want to bring the Office two pictures, one of each Dam up here. I think you might like to have them.

Your friend,
ROTHWELL BOHMFALK.
P. S. I am writing this just before class. The Business Law instructor is speaking now.

QUINTUPLETS' REFRIGERATOR ON EXHIBITION.

The recent sixth birthday of the quintuplets brought considerable public attention to the original refrigerator that was used in protecting the food of the Dionne quintuplets shortly after their birth six years ago, which is now on exhibit at the New York World's Fair where it creates a great deal of interest on the part of visitors, according to Mr. R. A. Metzke, District Manager of the United Gas Corporation.

"One of the many individual displays that form part of the gas industries' exhibit group known at the New York World's Fair as 'Gas Wonderland' is the actual refrigerator that was hurried to the small farm house in the Canadian northwoods where the Dionne quintuplets were born.

"The refrigerator which was donated to the guardians of the quintuplets by the manufacturers of Servel Electrolux refrigerators at Evansville, Indiana, was welcomed by Dr. Dafoe and the nurses who were in charge of the children. It was used to preserve the human milk with which the tiny immature infants were fed.

"The miniature babies' hospital or nursery which was built for the special use of the quintuplets was also equipped with a Servel Electrolux refrigerator and was regarded by the guardians as invaluable in caring for the food of the famous children.

"After the refrigerator now on exhibit at the New York Fair was removed from the Dionne home it was replaced by another refrigerator of the same make. The original refrigerator was operated by kerosene, but it is the same type as that which runs on gas.

"Persons in this vicinity who visit the Fair should have no difficulty in finding the Dionne refrigerator as it is in a location adjacent to the 'Magic Caves of Ice', one of the spectacular features of 'Gas Wonderland'.

H. F. Schlemmer, Bandera county agent, reports some of his Bandera county farmers have been quite successful in getting rid of the brown winter horse tick. As recommended by S. W. Clarke, representative of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company, the use of a rotenone and sulphur mixture has accomplished this, 15%

Cube with 5% Rotenone and 85% sulphur. In every case, 90% of the ticks were dead and off the horse within three days. Arrangements are now being made with local dealers to stock a supply of the material which has been found to be manufactured commercially in the exact mixture used in the tests.

IN MEMORY OF ROY KOCH

Our boy that God had given us,
Just lived with us 21 years,
When God decided He needed him;
Beyond this vale of tears.

His soul now rests in heaven fair;
His body 'neath the sod,
His memory, it shall never cease
As long as there is a God.

We know that he shall not come back,
To bless our home again,
But we can go to meet him there
Where heaven's life begins.

A FRIEND.

Hale County 4-H Club boys realized $16,124.43 from the sale of their meat animals produced under commercial feedlot conditions. The total came for the sale of 140 pigs, 140 beef calves, an 253 lambs. The pigs were sold on the local market at Plainview, but the calves and the lambs were offered at Kansas City. The shipment made up a special train, and 37 club boys and 8 county agricultural agents and adult leaders accompanied the movement to observe marketing conditions. Several neighboring counties also contributed to the shipment, and the totals do not include a considerable number of beef calves and some lambs not yet ready for market. The Hale County plan of production under commercial conditions rather than for exhibit at the various livestock shows, is being followed in a number of other counties.

MUSIC INSTRUMENTS OFFERED

Texas school bands are "cashing in" on an offer under which needed band instruments can be exchanged for coupons packed in sacks of all leading brands of Liberty Mills flours. Although the plan has been in effect for only a short time, the exchange of coupons for instruments is already well under way.

The instrument offer is an outgrowth of the High School Radio Band Competition-Festival being currently sponsored by Liberty Mills, San Antonio flour manufacturers, in which forty bands from Texas cities and towns are participating. It was discovered that some school bands were in need of certain instruments for which the purchase price was not available.

To help remedy this situation, Liberty Mills devised the coupon plan to enable school bands to procure such instruments at no cost. It is a community effort in which Mothers' Clubs, Band Mothers' Clubs, P.T. A's and other organizations interested in school activities cooperate with students in saving and collecting coupons, which take the place of cash in purchasing instruments. For the guidance of the many hundreds of schools in Texas that are using the band instrument plan to their own advantage, a catalog is available listing various instruments and their current coupon redemption values.

Arrangements have been made by Liberty Mills for coupons to be exchanged for instruments at the store of the San Antonio Music Company, in San Antonio.

The band instrument offer is not limited to the high schools taking part in the radio contest, but is open to all public, private and parochial schools in Texas that have bands, bugle corps or orchestras, according to Joe C. Mitchell, general manager of Liberty Mills.

YOU NEED A TRENCH SILO

Since a great many Medina County farmers have not received sufficient rain to make a corn crop, I would like to suggest again, that the corn may be utilized as ensilage. Every farm needs a silo to conserve green feed—corn makes excellent silage.

The size of the trench silo required to supply your individual needs may be calculated by comparison with the following data:

A silo for one cow should be two feet wide and two feet deep, and sixty feet long to hold three tons. If six tons are to be buried make two silos of the above dimensions or a trench silo for two cows might be made three feet wide at the top, two feet at the bottom, two and one-half feet deep, and to hold six tons, make it eighty feet long.

My idea of a silo to meet the requirements of the farmers in this county is one that will hold all the feed your farm has produced, in order to take care of future needs, since ensilage will keep several years, and will prevent purchasing of feed in years of drouth or non-reduction.

The trench silo is a safe place to store all kinds of feed. It cannot burn up, blow away nor be destroyed by rats, weevils or any other insects. It will keep for twenty years or more. What more do you want? Go ahead and build a silo!

C. M. MERRITT,
Medina County Agri. Agent.

The editors of this paper are pleased to acknowledge receipt of an invitation from Zion's Lutheran Church Board and its pastor, Rev. A. H. Falkenberg, to attend its Annual Barbecue and Sausage Dinner at Castroville on July 4th. Several State and County candidates are expected to address the assembly, and music and all kinds of amusements will entertain both young and old throughout the day.

W. G. Britsch of Hondo looked over the receipts in the sheep yards Tuesday for some that he could use to start another flock, in addition to the fairly large ones he has on hand at present. He paid $2 per head for nine aged shorn ewes and 5 cents per pound for six lambs averaging 31 pounds, which had been sent to market by Willie Lang, Bexar County farmer. The sheep were handled by Kothmann.—Cattle Clatter, San Antonio Express.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schulte Jr. and children went to San Antonio Friday where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Saathoff. From there they went to Austin where they spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kruze. Mrs. Schulte and Mrs. Kruze are sisters. This was their first visit to the capital city and they enjoyed a visit to the capitol, various parks and the dams near Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bippert were here Saturday from LaCoste publishing the Fourth of July picnic to be held at Castroville. The picnic is to be under the auspices of the Zion's Lutheran Church Board, and since these auspices are widely and favorably known for the character of their entertainment, and since this is the only public observance of the holiday so far announced in Medina County, there will no doubt be a large attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Bippert were appreciated callers at this office while here.

We wish to acknowledge the gift of two complimentary gate passes to the Falfurrias Rodeo and Fourth of July Celebration to be held July 3 and 4th. This is the twelfth annual rodeo and celebration sponsored by the Falfurrias American Legion post. With a new lighting system making possible two night shows, in addition to the free barbecue and main afternoon performance on July 4, present indications are that the total 1940 attendance will exceed the all-time high set last year. In addition to the regular rodeo events, the program includes a pioneer day parade on the morning of July 4, a colorful horse quadrille, grand entry of all contestants and horsemen, flag race, and two dances.

Robert A. Haegelin is marketing some as fine peaches, grown in his orchard a few miles south of town, as California or Arkansas ever boasted. But Mr. Haegelin's peaches are not like Topsy in the story, they never "just grewed up". Even with the best care possible to give them some of his best trees died during the protracted drought of last year. By stirring the ground shallow every week and allowing no other vegetation to grow and sap the soil moisture he kept many of them alive, and is being rewarded with a fair yield of high quality fruit this year. Mr. Haegelin says it is a mistake to try to grow any sort of a crop between the trees in this country. The trees must be carefully cultivated, a task impossible when the ground is occupied by other crops, and one must be satisfied with the fruit as the only yield from the soil.

J. N. (Kansas John) Saathoff paid a recent visit to his old stamping grounds in the Alpine country and reports an enjoyable time. Back in 1888, when he was some years younger than he is now, Mr. Saathoff migrated from Medina County to Alpine with a party of other young and adventuresome spirits, some of whom are still living there. Two of these, Mrs. Harms and John A. Weyerts, were hosts to him on this visit. Although Mr. Saathoff returned to Medina County after a stay of only three years in the Alpine country, he established an acquaintance there of which he is proud, and among the cowboy acquaintances of that day, he enjoyed meeting on this occasion Judge Van Sickle, attorney, R. B. (Bob) Slight, County Judge; and Noy Bohl, City Marshall of Alpine. Living over in memory the events of the long ago is a happy diversion to the old trail driver.

QUIHI NOTES

What a change! We have moved into the rain belt. To all appearances, we have gone beyond our allotment of annual rainfall. Crop prospects are in prime condition.
The "green pastures" are very much in evidence. Is the "Good Shepherd" very much and gratefully remembered these days?

Mrs. Geo. Heyen is still bedfast.
She has her temporary abode with Mrs. John Saathoff and receives all the tender care she needs.

Mr. and Mrs. August Stiegler have both gone through a spell of various ailments and were confined to home and bed. A speedy recovery, we wish them sincerely.

Also Mr. Harry Balzen was under medical care recently. His wife, bedridden for many months, was received into membership by confirmation after a period of instruction.

By hearsay we have it that Mr.
Roy Bohlen had his tonsils removed at the hospital, and we can imagine how he feels after the ordeal. A few days more and all will be well, we hope. Archie Ray, the son of Mr.
and Mrs. Herman Gerdes, is at the hospital. The tonsils had to be removed, too.

Announcements for June 23: German service at New Fountain at

"It never rains but it pours!" I always used to think that this was a proverb, but I began to change my mind about it very soon after Mr. Paul's proposal, for that was the beginning of the chain of events that was to make my life a hell. I don't read big part of New York. I don't read that it was the cause of them. I don't read that it was, to some extent, perhaps it was, to some extent. But it certainly led up to them. The second episode followed immediately after the first.

When Father told me to run along and get a horse, I hesitated for a moment. I wanted to ask him what he meant by saying "get a horse" into his calculations. At the end I went without speaking. I went for several reasons: first, Fred was waiting; second, I was a good deal excited over Mr. Paul's proposal and a little excited over Paul's and I wasn't at all certain "what was at" (as the darkey said); and third, I was pretty sure that Father wouldn't explain. Father had a way of saying things that seemed in the moment but that as time went on, he never explained them, leaving it to me to do that; and I sometimes suspected that they were like the words of the Delphic oracle—framed as to be correct whatever happened. I don't know though. Father was a wise old bird; he could foresee the future as accurately as any man. I was of the Prophet's union that ever was more accurately. In fact, for as long as I could remember, I was seldom content with prophecy. He went ahead and helped to make his prophecies come true. I really believe that in the ten minutes that elapsed between Mr. Paul's step out on the porch and my meeting Father—it could not have been more than ten minutes—he had seen what was coming and had mapped out a plan for a campaign to meet it.

Fred followed, of course. But he hadn't a chance of overtaking me. His horse was good, but Gypsy was a racer. I looked back once or twice and each time saw that he was farther and farther behind. The last time I looked he had vanished altogether.

Gypsy was going strong when she turned into a long straight stretch of road, bordered by a fence on one side and a deep ditch on the other. And there, not a hundred yards away, was a big autobus full of people trundling slowly away from us. Gypsy was blind with rage or fear, or whatever horses go wild with, and I knew perfectly that in another minute she would hurt herself badly into the rear of that autobus. It was so huge that I could not hope to pass it.

I saw this in the wink of an eye. Then I screamed (which only made Gypsy run the harder) and began to saw at her mouth, which had no more effect on her than it would have had on an elephant.

Most girls would have screamed again and closed their eyes. I may have screamed, but I'm proud to say I didn't close my eyes. I know I didn't, because I saw what happened at the bus. A second after my initial scream its rear door flopped open and a man tumbled out and ran toward me. At the same instant the bus undoubtedly gathered way. The man ran toward me; then, when I was nearly on him, he turned and ran with me. He didn't reach for Gypsy's bridle; but as she passed him he caught the front of my saddle and vaulted up behind me. Then, quick as a flash he reached around me, one arm on each side, caught the bridle, and pulled Miss Gypsy down. It took an awfully strong man to do it, but he did it easily. Gypsy stopped about two feet behind the autobus, which had suddenly turned into an aggregation of heads and eyes—chiefly eyes.

That was all I noticed about it at the moment. I really had no time to study it, for by that time it was going pretty fast; and when Gypsy stopped it simply ran way from us. When it did stop, it was a hundred yards, or more, away.

Meanwhile, my preserver—I have to call him that, for I didn't learn his name for some time after—my preserver had jumped to the ground again. He held Gypsy's bridle with one hand and took off his hat with the other.

"Are you all right now?" he asked, as casually as if stopping runaways and saving damsels was merely part of his day's work.

I nodded. "Yes. Thanks to you!" I gasped. I was really scared, but I wouldn't have admitted it for the world. "It was the bravest thing—" He laughed. I noticed that he had nice eyes. "Nothing brave about it," he said. "I've practiced that sort of thing a lot. It's easy when you once get the hang of it. Do you think you can manage the horse now?"

"I think so," I answered. "Gypsy would have run herself out in a mile or two more—if she hadn't smashed into your bus, or another, first. She'll be all right now. Besides"—I glanced behind me—"yonder comes Fred."

His eyes followed mine. "Then I'll leave you to Fred," he said. "Good afternoon!" he raised his hat and turned away.

"Oh! Wait—please!" I fairly shrieked the words. "Good gracious!" I went on as he faced me again. "Aren't you going to tell me who you are?"

He laughed. "Gladly!" he said. "But why?"

"Why?" I echoed. "Father will want to thank you. And—and I will want to thank you. I—I can't do it properly now and—"

Once more he laughed. He certainly did have a nice laugh. "I guess we'll pass the thanks," he said, firmly. "I'm very glad to have been of service to you, but—Good-by!" This time he was gone in good earnest.

What could I do? I couldn't sit on Gypsy and yell to him. I couldn't gallop up to that bus-load of staring people—now that I looked at them I thought they looked sort of queer—and demand his name and whence he came and give him another chance to answer that he "dinna care to say." I couldn't even sit still and watch him. I couldn't do anything but ride to meet Fred, who was almost up to me and who was a lot more excited than I was. I wanted to ask Fred to gallop after the bus, which was fast disappearing into the distance (or whatever people and things do disappear into), and to find out all he could about my preserver. But I didn't do it; after all, saving a girl's life doesn't put a man under any obligations to her; and if M. P. (my preserver) wanted to remain anonymous, I had no right to stop him. Besides, Fred wouldn't have gone; he was fussing about me like a hen with one chicken, and he insisted on conveying me home as carefully as if periscopes were sticking up out of every fence corner.

So I gave in and went without a word. But it certainly was tough to let a romantic-looking hero with nice eyes—the first hero I have ever met personally, too—go out of my life in an autobus without even leaving his name as a memento of his parting. I cried myself to sleep that night.

"What I Mean Is, Has a Poor Man a Right to Ask a Rich Girl to Marry Him?"

More. If we had had to stay a month longer I should have let him go on, for then he would have had time to get over it and come back and be friends. But three days! It takes most any man at least three days to get over being rejected. And I positively couldn't spare Fred for those last three fag-end days. Besides, I liked the boy—he is really older than I, but a girl is always so much more grown-up than a man—and I didn't want to hurt him.

(Fred wants me to insert a note here saying that in his opinion the dope about a girl being more grown-up than a man is all futile piffle. He says after I've been married a while I'll find out the real truth! Horrid, slangy beast, Fred is.)

Anyway I didn't want to hurt Fred, so I just dodged. "Oh, sugar!" I cried. "Cut out the sentimental stuff. Come! I'll race you to the point yonder." Then, most unfairly, I shook the reins and jabbed the spur into Gypsy.

Gypsy wasn't used to the spur; and as I just said, Gypsy was skittish that morning anyway. So she bolted.

I wasn't a bit frightened. The road was narrow but it was open and presumably clear. Gypsy might run literally for miles without getting into any trouble. The only danger was from automobiles, and this was slight, for a far better auto road ran nearly parallel with this one only a mile or so to the west. So I just settled back to let Gypsy have her run out. I couldn't have stopped her, anyway.

Fred followed, of course. But he hadn't a chance of overtaking me. His horse was good, but Gypsy was a racer. I looked back once or twice and each time saw that he was farther and farther behind. The last time I looked he had vanished altogether.

NEW TWO-TONE CHAMPION

Five different combinations of gay colors are available in the new Delux-tone models just announced by Studebaker and shown here yesterday for the first time. Above you see one of the new models, a Studebaker Champion two-door sedan. Body colors are basic, tops are of lighter tones of the same color. Wheels are brightly painted and strips of gleaming chromium add to the general gaiety of the car. Interiors are also treated with the two-tone motif in upholstery, trim and instrument panel.
